The Justice Reinvestment Act was signed into law in June of 2011 (SL 2011-192). This body of legislation creates the Treatment for Effective Community Supervision Program (TESCP) which is to be administered by the Community Corrections section of the Division of Adult Correction. The program is designed to support the use of evidence-based practices to reduce recidivism and to promote coordination between State and community-based corrections programs.

Community Corrections has identified the priority targeted population for TECSP. The core services proven to be most effective in addressing offender criminal thinking and substance abuse have also been documented for this population. It is the goal of the Department to ensure core services are present in all 100 counties.

The Department is in the process of entering into contractual agreements with eligible entities for the operation of community-based corrections programs and will monitor compliance with those agreements. The Department anticipates making award recommendations to State Purchasing and Contract by May of 2012. Prior to submission of the bids there will be four mandatory pre-bidders conferences in geographically dispersed locations. Information on evidence-based practices will be shared by the Department along with opportunity for potential bidders to ask questions about the Request for Proposal (RFP) and the Department's expectations.

A full report on the first year's activities of TECSP will be submitted in March of 2013.
