GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF NORTH CAROLINA SESSION 2003

Η

HOUSE DRH60415-LC-182B (2/24)

Short Title: Small Business Health Insurance Credit.

Sponsors:	Representative Goforth.
Referred to:

 by adding a new section to read: "§ 105-129.16D. Credit for small business employee health benefits. (a) Credit. – A small business that provides health benefits for all of its eligible employees during the taxable year is allowed a credit to offset its costs in providing health benefits for its eligible employees. For the purposes of this subsection, a taxpayer provides health benefits if it pays at least fifty percent (50%) of the premiums for health care coverage that equals or exceeds the minimum provisions of the basic health care plan of coverage recommended by the Small Employer Carrier Committee pursuant to G.S. 58-50-125. The credit is equal to a dollar amount per eligible employee, not to exceed the taxable year. For each eligible employee for whom the taxpayer provides health benefits covering the employee only, the amount is seven hundred dollars ($700.00). For each eligible employee for whom the taxpayer provides health benefits covering the employee and at least one member of the employee's family, the amount is one thousand three hundred dollars ($1,300). (b) Allocation. – If the taxpayer is an individual who is a nonresident or a part-year resident, the taxpayer must reduce the amount of the credit by multiplying it by the fraction calculated under G.S. 105-134.5(b) or (c), as appropriate. If the taxpayer 	1	A BILL TO BE ENTITLED
 PROVIDE EMPLOYEE HEALTH INSURANCE. The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts: SECTION 1. Article 3B of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read: "§ 105-129.16D. Credit for small business employee health benefits. (a) Credit. – A small business that provides health benefits for all of its eligible employees during the taxable year is allowed a credit to offset its costs in providing health benefits for its eligible employees. For the purposes of this subsection, a taxpayer provides health benefits if it pays at least fifty percent (50%) of the premiums for health care coverage that equals or exceeds the minimum provisions of the basic health care plan of coverage recommended by the Small Employer Carrier Committee pursuant to G.S. 58-50-125. The credit is equal to a dollar amount per eligible employee, not to exceed the taxpayer's costs of providing health benefits for its eligible employees during the taxable year. For each eligible employee for whom the taxpayer provides health benefits covering the employee only, the amount is seven hundred dollars ($700.00). For each eligible employee for whom the taxpayer provides health benefits covering the employee and at least one member of the employee's family, the amount is one thousand three hundred dollars ($1,300). (b) Allocation. – If the taxpayer is an individual who is a nonresident or a part-year resident, the taxpayer must reduce the amount of the credit by multiplying it by the fraction calculated under G.S. 105-134.5(b) or (c), as appropriate. If the taxpayer 	2	AN ACT TO PROVIDE A TAX CREDIT FOR SMALL BUSINESSES THAT SECTION 1. Article 3B of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended by adding a new section to read: "§ 105-129.16D. Credit for small business employee health benefits. (a) Credit. – A small business that provides health benefits for all of its eligible employees during the taxable year is allowed a credit to offset its costs in providing health benefits for its eligible employees. For the purposes of this subsection, a taxpayer provides health benefits if it pays at least fifty percent (50%) of the premiums for health care coverage that equals or exceeds the minimum provisions of the basic health care plan of coverage recommended by the Small Employer Carrier Committee pursuant to G.S. 58-50-125. The credit is equal to a dollar amount per eligible employees, not to exceed the taxpayer's costs of providing health benefits for its eligible employees during the taxable year. For each eligible employee for whom the taxpayer provides health benefits covering the employee only, the amount is seven hundred dollars ($700.00). For each eligible employee for whom the taxpayer provides health benefits covering the employee for whom the taxpayer provides health benefits covering the amount is seven hundred dollars ($700.00). For each eligible employee for whom the taxpayer provides health benefits covering the employee and at least one member of the employee's family, the amount is one thousand three hundred dollars ($1,300). (b) Allocation. – If the taxpayer is an individual who is a nonresident or a part-year resident, the taxpayer must reduce the amount of the credit by multiplying it by the fraction calculated under G.S. 105-134.5(b) or (c), as appropriate. If the taxpayer is not an individual and is required to apportion its multistate business income to this 	3
 by adding a new section to read: "§ 105-129.16D. Credit for small business employee health benefits. (a) Credit. – A small business that provides health benefits for all of its eligible employees during the taxable year is allowed a credit to offset its costs in providing health benefits for its eligible employees. For the purposes of this subsection, a taxpayer provides health benefits if it pays at least fifty percent (50%) of the premiums for health care coverage that equals or exceeds the minimum provisions of the basic health care plan of coverage recommended by the Small Employer Carrier Committee pursuant to G.S. 58-50-125. The credit is equal to a dollar amount per eligible employee, not to exceed the taxable year. For each eligible employee for whom the taxpayer provides health benefits covering the employee only, the amount is seven hundred dollars ($700.00). For each eligible employee for whom the taxpayer provides health benefits covering the employee and at least one member of the employee's family, the amount is one thousand three hundred dollars ($1,300). (b) Allocation. – If the taxpayer is an individual who is a nonresident or a part-year resident, the taxpayer must reduce the amount of the credit by multiplying it by the fraction calculated under G.S. 105-134.5(b) or (c), as appropriate. If the taxpayer 	4	The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:
 "§ 105-129.16D. Credit for small business employee health benefits. (a) Credit. – A small business that provides health benefits for all of its eligible employees during the taxable year is allowed a credit to offset its costs in providing health benefits for its eligible employees. For the purposes of this subsection, a taxpayer provides health benefits if it pays at least fifty percent (50%) of the premiums for health care coverage that equals or exceeds the minimum provisions of the basic health care plan of coverage recommended by the Small Employer Carrier Committee pursuant to G.S. 58-50-125. The credit is equal to a dollar amount per eligible employee, not to exceed the taxable year. For each eligible employee for whom the taxpayer provides health benefits covering the employee only, the amount is seven hundred dollars ($700.00). For each eligible employee for whom the taxpayer provides health benefits covering the employee and at least one member of the employee's family, the amount is one thousand three hundred dollars ($1,300). (b) Allocation. – If the taxpayer is an individual who is a nonresident or a part-year resident, the taxpayer must reduce the amount of the credit by multiplying it by the fraction calculated under G.S. 105-134.5(b) or (c), as appropriate. If the taxpayer 	5	SECTION 1. Article 3B of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes is amended
 (a) Credit. – A small business that provides health benefits for all of its eligible employees during the taxable year is allowed a credit to offset its costs in providing health benefits for its eligible employees. For the purposes of this subsection, a taxpayer provides health benefits if it pays at least fifty percent (50%) of the premiums for health care coverage that equals or exceeds the minimum provisions of the basic health care plan of coverage recommended by the Small Employer Carrier Committee pursuant to G.S. 58-50-125. The credit is equal to a dollar amount per eligible employee, not to exceed the taxpayer's costs of providing health benefits for its eligible employees during the taxable year. For each eligible employee for whom the taxpayer provides health benefits covering the employee only, the amount is seven hundred dollars ($700.00). For each eligible employee for whom the taxpayer provides health benefits covering the employee for whom the taxpayer provides health benefits covering the tax one member of the employee's family, the amount is one thousand three hundred dollars ($1,300). (b) Allocation. – If the taxpayer is an individual who is a nonresident or a part-year resident, the taxpayer must reduce the amount of the credit by multiplying it by the fraction calculated under G.S. 105-134.5(b) or (c), as appropriate. If the taxpayer is not an individual and is required to apportion its multistate business income to this 	6	by adding a new section to read:
 employees during the taxable year is allowed a credit to offset its costs in providing health benefits for its eligible employees. For the purposes of this subsection, a taxpayer provides health benefits if it pays at least fifty percent (50%) of the premiums for health care coverage that equals or exceeds the minimum provisions of the basic health care plan of coverage recommended by the Small Employer Carrier Committee pursuant to G.S. 58-50-125. The credit is equal to a dollar amount per eligible employee, not to exceed the taxpayer's costs of providing health benefits for its eligible employees during the taxable year. For each eligible employee for whom the taxpayer provides health benefits covering the employee only, the amount is seven hundred dollars ($700.00). For each eligible employee and at least one member of the employee's family, the amount is one thousand three hundred dollars ($1,300). (b) Allocation. – If the taxpayer is an individual who is a nonresident or a part-year resident, the taxpayer must reduce the amount of the credit by multiplying it by the fraction calculated under G.S. 105-134.5(b) or (c), as appropriate. If the taxpayer 	7	"§ 105-129.16D. Credit for small business employee health benefits.
 health benefits for its eligible employees. For the purposes of this subsection, a taxpayer provides health benefits if it pays at least fifty percent (50%) of the premiums for health care coverage that equals or exceeds the minimum provisions of the basic health care plan of coverage recommended by the Small Employer Carrier Committee pursuant to G.S. 58-50-125. The credit is equal to a dollar amount per eligible employee, not to exceed the taxpayer's costs of providing health benefits for its eligible employees during the taxable year. For each eligible employee for whom the taxpayer provides health benefits covering the employee only, the amount is seven hundred dollars ($700.00). For each eligible employee for whom the taxpayer provides health benefits covering the employee and at least one member of the employee's family, the amount is one thousand three hundred dollars ($1,300). (b) Allocation. – If the taxpayer is an individual who is a nonresident or a part-year resident, the taxpayer must reduce the amount of the credit by multiplying it by the fraction calculated under G.S. 105-134.5(b) or (c), as appropriate. If the taxpayer 	8	(a) Credit. – A small business that provides health benefits for all of its eligible provides health benefits if it pays at least fifty percent (50%) of the premiums for health care coverage that equals or exceeds the minimum provisions of the basic health care plan of coverage recommended by the Small Employer Carrier Committee pursuant to G.S. 58-50-125. The credit is equal to a dollar amount per eligible employee, not to exceed the taxable year. For each eligible employee for whom the taxpayer provides health benefits covering the employee only, the amount is seven hundred dollars ($700.00). For each eligible employee for whom the taxpayer provides health benefits covering the employee and at least one member of the employee's family, the amount is one thousand three hundred dollars ($1,300). (b) Allocation. – If the taxpayer is an individual who is a nonresident or a part-year resident, the taxpayer must reduce the amount of the credit by multiplying it by the fraction calculated under G.S. 105-134.5(b) or (c), as appropriate. If the taxpayer 	9	employees during the taxable year is allowed a credit to offset its costs in providing care coverage that equals or exceeds the minimum provisions of the basic health care plan of coverage recommended by the Small Employer Carrier Committee pursuant to G.S. 58-50-125. The credit is equal to a dollar amount per eligible employee, not to exceed the taxable year. For each eligible employee for whom the taxpayer provides health benefits covering the employee only, the amount is seven hundred dollars ($700.00). For each eligible employee for whom the taxpayer provides health benefits covering the employee for whom the taxpayer provides health benefits covering the employee for whom the taxpayer provides health benefits covering the employee and at least one member of the employee's family, the amount is one thousand three hundred dollars ($1,300). (b) Allocation. – If the taxpayer is an individual who is a nonresident or a part-year resident, the taxpayer must reduce the amount of the credit by multiplying it by the fraction calculated under G.S. 105-134.5(b) or (c), as appropriate. If the taxpayer 	10	health benefits for its eligible employees. For the purposes of this subsection, a taxpayer plan of coverage recommended by the Small Employer Carrier Committee pursuant to G.S. 58-50-125. The credit is equal to a dollar amount per eligible employee, not to exceed the taxpayer's costs of providing health benefits for its eligible employees during the taxable year. For each eligible employee for whom the taxpayer provides health benefits covering the employee only, the amount is seven hundred dollars ($700.00). For each eligible employee for whom the taxpayer provides health benefits covering the employee and at least one member of the employee's family, the amount is one thousand three hundred dollars ($1,300). (b) Allocation. – If the taxpayer is an individual who is a nonresident or a part-year resident, the taxpayer must reduce the amount of the credit by multiplying it by the fraction calculated under G.S. 105-134.5(b) or (c), as appropriate. If the taxpayer 	11	provides health benefits if it pays at least fifty percent (50%) of the premiums for health
 G.S. 58-50-125. The credit is equal to a dollar amount per eligible employee, not to exceed the taxpayer's costs of providing health benefits for its eligible employees during the taxable year. For each eligible employee for whom the taxpayer provides health benefits covering the employee only, the amount is seven hundred dollars ($700.00). For each eligible employee for whom the taxpayer provides health benefits covering the employee and at least one member of the employee's family, the amount is one thousand three hundred dollars ($1,300). (b) Allocation. – If the taxpayer is an individual who is a nonresident or a part-year resident, the taxpayer must reduce the amount of the credit by multiplying it by the fraction calculated under G.S. 105-134.5(b) or (c), as appropriate. If the taxpayer is not an individual and is required to apportion its multistate business income to this 	12	care coverage that equals or exceeds the minimum provisions of the basic health care
The credit is equal to a dollar amount per eligible employee, not to exceed the taxpayer's costs of providing health benefits for its eligible employees during the taxable year. For each eligible employee for whom the taxpayer provides health benefits covering the employee only, the amount is seven hundred dollars ($700.00). For each eligible employee for whom the taxpayer provides health benefits covering the employee and at least one member of the employee's family, the amount is one thousand three hundred dollars ($1,300). (b) Allocation. – If the taxpayer is an individual who is a nonresident or a part-year resident, the taxpayer must reduce the amount of the credit by multiplying it by the fraction calculated under G.S. 105-134.5(b) or (c), as appropriate. If the taxpayer is not an individual and is required to apportion its multistate business income to this	13	plan of coverage recommended by the Small Employer Carrier Committee pursuant to taxpayer's costs of providing health benefits for its eligible employees during the taxable year. For each eligible employee for whom the taxpayer provides health benefits covering the employee only, the amount is seven hundred dollars ($700.00). For each eligible employee for whom the taxpayer provides health benefits covering the employee and at least one member of the employee's family, the amount is one thousand three hundred dollars ($1,300). (b) Allocation. – If the taxpayer is an individual who is a nonresident or a part-year resident, the taxpayer must reduce the amount of the credit by multiplying it by the fraction calculated under G.S. 105-134.5(b) or (c), as appropriate. If the taxpayer is not an individual and is required to apportion its multistate business income to this 	14	G.S. 58-50-125. taxable year. For each eligible employee for whom the taxpayer provides health benefits covering the employee only, the amount is seven hundred dollars ($700.00). For each eligible employee for whom the taxpayer provides health benefits covering the employee and at least one member of the employee's family, the amount is one thousand three hundred dollars ($1,300). (b) Allocation. – If the taxpayer is an individual who is a nonresident or a part-year resident, the taxpayer must reduce the amount of the credit by multiplying it by the fraction calculated under G.S. 105-134.5(b) or (c), as appropriate. If the taxpayer is not an individual and is required to apportion its multistate business income to this 	15	The credit is equal to a dollar amount per eligible employee, not to exceed the 18 covering the employee only, the amount is seven hundred dollars ($700.00). For each 19 eligible employee for whom the taxpayer provides health benefits covering the 20 employee and at least one member of the employee's family, the amount is one thousand 21 three hundred dollars ($1,300). 22 (b) Allocation. – If the taxpayer is an individual who is a nonresident or a 23 part-year resident, the taxpayer must reduce the amount of the credit by multiplying it 24 by the fraction calculated under G.S. 105-134.5(b) or (c), as appropriate. If the taxpayer 25 is not an individual and is required to apportion its multistate business income to this	16	taxpayer's costs of providing health benefits for its eligible employees during the eligible employee for whom the taxpayer provides health benefits covering the employee and at least one member of the employee's family, the amount is one thousand three hundred dollars ($1,300). (b) Allocation If the taxpayer is an individual who is a nonresident or a part-year resident, the taxpayer must reduce the amount of the credit by multiplying it by the fraction calculated under G.S. 105-134.5(b) or (c), as appropriate. If the taxpayer is not an individual and is required to apportion its multistate business income to this 	17	taxable year. For each eligible employee for whom the taxpayer provides health benefits
 20 employee and at least one member of the employee's family, the amount is one thousand 21 three hundred dollars ($1,300). 22 (b) Allocation If the taxpayer is an individual who is a nonresident or a 23 part-year resident, the taxpayer must reduce the amount of the credit by multiplying it 24 by the fraction calculated under G.S. 105-134.5(b) or (c), as appropriate. If the taxpayer 25 is not an individual and is required to apportion its multistate business income to this 	18	covering the employee only, the amount is seven hundred dollars ($700.00). For each three hundred dollars ($1,300). (b) Allocation If the taxpayer is an individual who is a nonresident or a part-year resident, the taxpayer must reduce the amount of the credit by multiplying it by the fraction calculated under G.S. 105-134.5(b) or (c), as appropriate. If the taxpayer is not an individual and is required to apportion its multistate business income to this 	19	eligible employee for whom the taxpayer provides health benefits covering the
22 (b) Allocation. – If the taxpayer is an individual who is a nonresident or a 23 part-year resident, the taxpayer must reduce the amount of the credit by multiplying it 24 by the fraction calculated under G.S. 105-134.5(b) or (c), as appropriate. If the taxpayer 25 is not an individual and is required to apportion its multistate business income to this	20	employee and at least one member of the employee's family, the amount is one thousand part-year resident, the taxpayer must reduce the amount of the credit by multiplying it by the fraction calculated under G.S. 105-134.5(b) or (c), as appropriate. If the taxpayer is not an individual and is required to apportion its multistate business income to this 	21	three hundred dollars ($1,300).
 by the fraction calculated under G.S. 105-134.5(b) or (c), as appropriate. If the taxpayer is not an individual and is required to apportion its multistate business income to this 	22	(b) Allocation. – If the taxpayer is an individual who is a nonresident or a
25 is not an individual and is required to apportion its multistate business income to this	23	part-year resident, the taxpayer must reduce the amount of the credit by multiplying it
	24	by the fraction calculated under G.S. 105-134.5(b) or (c), as appropriate. If the taxpayer
	25	is not an individual and is required to apportion its multistate business income to this
26 State, the taxpayer must reduce the amount of the credit by multiplying it by the	26	State, the taxpayer must reduce the amount of the credit by multiplying it by the
27 apportionment fraction used to apportion its business income to this State.	27	apportionment fraction used to apportion its business income to this State.

(Public)

General Assembly of North Carolina

1	(c)	Definitions. – The following definitions apply in this section:
2		(1) Eligible employee. – Defined in G.S. 58-50-110.
3		(2) Small business. – A taxpayer that employs no more than 15 employees
4		throughout the taxable year."
5		SECTION 2. This act becomes effective for taxable years beginning on or
6	after Jan	uary 1, 2005.