EVOLUTION OF A MULTI-CAMPUS UNIVERSITY

1795 — The nation’s first public university opens in Chapel Hill

1877 — NC General Assembly begins funding other institutions of higher education, beginning with the State Colored Normal School (now FSU)

1931 — Legislation creates three-campus UNC including UNC (now UNC-CH), NC State College (now NCSU), and Woman’s College (now UNCG)

1965 - 69 — Three more campuses join the University by legislative action—UNCC, UNCA, and UNCW

1971 — State’s ten remaining senior public institutions join to create the 16-campus University of North Carolina

2007 — NC School of Science and Mathematics becomes the 17th UNC campus

Key elements of UNC's mission, as codified in NCGS 116-1:

- The University of North Carolina is a public, multi-campus university dedicated to the service of North Carolina and its people.
- [Its] mission is to discover, create, transmit, and apply knowledge to address the needs of individuals and society.
- This mission is accomplished through
 - instruction, which communicates the knowledge and values and imparts the skills necessary for individuals to lead responsible, productive, and personally satisfying lives;
 - through research, scholarship, and creative activities, which advance knowledge and enhance the educational process;
 - and through public service, which contributes to the solution of societal problems and enriches the quality of life in the State.
- In the fulfillment of this mission, the University shall seek an efficient use of available resources to ensure the highest quality in its service to the citizens of the State.
