FRD Follow-up to Questions from March 9th Staff UNC Budget Presentation

Q: Was there an increase in fees after the General Assembly enacted the “Fixed Tuition Payment Program” in 2016 (G.S. 2016-94)?

On average, fees grew at a slightly higher rate compared to the previous three years in FY 2016-17 - which was the first year the Fixed Tuition Payment Program went into effect - but they have been lower than previous years since then (FY 2017-18 to FY 2020-21). In part, they have been lower because the 3% cap on overall student fee growth per year went into effect in FY 2017-18.

Q: How does student retention at NC Promise institutions compare to rest of UNC System?

The “persistence rate” is a measure of how many students from an initial freshman cohort remain enrolled in subsequent years. Below is the persistence rate for the freshman (1st year) classes of 2015, 2016, 2017, 2018, and 2019: 1) UNC System 2) ECSU 3) UNCP 4) WCU.

Highlighted cells indicate instances where a cohort was provided the NC Promise reduced tuition rate that particular year.

Q: Are any UNC institutions receiving revenues from foreign sources?

Congress requires U.S. colleges and universities to publicly report foreign gifts and contracts to the U.S. Department of Education. This mandate requires nearly all colleges and universities to report, twice each year, foreign gifts and contracts of value $250,000 or more (considered alone or in combination with other gifts or contracts with a foreign source) and to disclose any foreign ownership or control to the Secretary of Education.

Based on the public database provided through the U.S. Department of Education, the document labeled “Appendix A” at the end of this handout provides the list of publicly available gifts/contracts from foreign sources. It includes both gifts from individuals as well as governments.

3. No fee increases were approved by the UNC BOG for FY 2020-21.

Q: How did increased enrollment at NC Promise institutions affect enrollment at nearby community colleges?

Enrollment at neighboring community colleges grew at a slightly slower pace in the two years following the implementation of NC Promise (2.0%), compared both to their own growth in the three years prior to implementation (2.6%), and to other community colleges in the North Carolina system in the period following implementation (3.9%).

It is worth noting that:

- Growth in neighboring community colleges in the three years prior to implementation was strongly positive (2.6%) relative to all other community colleges during the same period (-0.4%) so that the slower growth experienced post-implementation could be due to leveling off.
- For neighboring community colleges, growth varied significantly both pre- and post-implementation, at the individual institution level as well as when grouped geographically based on proximity to the three NC Promise institutions. See tables below.

Definitions:

- Neighboring community colleges are defined as those within a 60-mile radius of the NC Promise institutions.
- Growth calculations are based on actual curriculum FTE, and exclude workforce continuing education and basic skills FTE.

Question: What are the total number of employees per student?

While it is difficult for the UNC System to determine the exact number of positions that serve students (e.g. some employees may be strictly research-focused), a reasonable measure is to look at budgeted General Fund positions and compare that to the total student enrollment headcount. That data is below.
