Report to the Legislature
December 1, 2014

SECTION 14.2A.(a) The Wildlife Resources Commission and the Departments of Environment and Natural Resources, Labor, Commerce, and Agriculture and Consumer Services that have, within the current biennium, as defined in G.S. 143C-1-1, undergone reorganizations, modifications to assignments or duties, or transfers of departmental functions or positions between fund codes shall submit a report as provided in this section. The report shall address the rationale for the reorganization or other administrative modifications, the efficiencies achieved, and the cost-savings resulting from the reorganization or other administrative modifications, including, at a minimum, the following:

1. Positions eliminated.
2. Positions transferred among divisions, sections, or programs.
3. New divisions, sections, and programs established.
4. A comparison of the organizational charts before and after the reorganizations or other administrative modifications with each structural change clearly identified.
5. A list of divisions, sections, and programs that were unaffected by the reorganizations or other administrative modifications.
6. Resulting cost-savings, itemized by funding source.
7. An explanation of improvements in the administrative capability of the department to manage its programs and carry out its mission.
8. An identification of any obsolete or overlapping activities.

34 SECTION 14.2A.(b) Each department shall submit its report to the Chairs of the House Appropriations Subcommittee on Natural and Economic Resources and the Senate Appropriations Committee on Natural and Economic Resources and the Fiscal Research Division of the General Assembly no later than December 1, 2014.

In accordance with Section 14.2A.(a) of the Appropriations Act of 2014 the following report is submitted.

In 2011 the Wildlife Resources Commission began to examine the configuration of its workforce and work processes agency-wide, to meet the goals of the Strategic Plan. The object was to create a more efficient organization that was aligned to our strategic plan, and would be more responsive to the needs of our constituents. The Executive Director appointed a team of senior managers to review all aspects of the organization with the objective of enhancing effectiveness by optimizing the relationship between agency resources and outcomes. This was seen as a natural extension of the strategic planning process. It also provided a way to ensure that:

- resources were focused in the “right” way
- WRC was accountable for its work
- resource allocation could be evaluated

Report to the Legislature

December 1, 2014

The team received guidance on what they should concentrate on including identification of duplication and redundancy of program areas and activities, reduction of structural and operational silos, facilitation of communications and information flow, streamlining management and enhancing internal and external collaboration. Efforts soon focused on two of the areas that had the most impact on WRC interactions with the public, namely Law Enforcement and Infrastructure and Lands management. While these reorganizations did not occur in the current biennium, they are nonetheless a crucial part of our restructuring efforts.

Reorganization of the Law Enforcement Division

WRC implemented a more effective and efficient operational model resulting from recommendations generated during a division wide administrative review. The desire to look at ways to restructure some of the work of the Law Enforcement Division came about from a need to both streamline administrative processes and to reutilize positions for an investigative unit. The new organization of each district reduced middle management positions from 2 to 1. Concurrent with this updated organization design, the Division has also reduced the number of airplane pilots from four to three. Restructuring in this manner addresses the goals of the agency's strategic planning and organizational review processes by examining efficiencies, eliminating redundancies, and enhancing effectiveness within current boundaries of fiscal and staff resources. Because of these reductions in supervisory staff, we were able to allocate four new Wildlife Enforcement Officer Positions to the field in areas of the state with the greatest need for additional personnel. In addition a special investigations unit was created that is focusing efforts on the commercialization of wildlife (trafficking) and other investigations that are time sensitive. Another position that had been responsible for state wide Hunter Education was moved elsewhere and most of the duties were reassigned to a non-sworn position. The end result of these changes is that positions that were once largely administrative in nature were reallocated to field positions where on the ground law enforcement work is being done.

Reorganization of Engineering and Lands Management

Another area that was examined in depth was the organization of field technician positions in several different divisions. The approach taken was to consider the overlap in activities between the Boating Technicians in the Engineering Division and the Wildlife Technicians within the Wildlife Management Division. Both Divisions were tasked with managing infrastructure that included all of the managed lands, access areas, maintenance, and fish and wildlife habitat management on public lands. The review determined that, while many technicians in three separate divisions shared the same skillset and did similar jobs, they were performing those jobs only for the division to which they were assigned. Consequently, technicians were often traveling great distances to do work when another technician working for a different division was much closer to the work site. Additionally there was a duplicative management structure in each region. Each division had separate supervisory and management personnel in the same geographic region. This realignment also allowed for the removal of several layers of supervision between management and workers, resulting in greater cost-savings and effectiveness. Some of the results of this study included consolidation of work areas and supervisory structure, which reduced layers of management from five to three. A number of supervisory positions were reallocated to accomplish on the ground work. This overhaul of our organization allowed for improved allocation of staff resources to priority activities as well as pooling and sharing resources including staff, facilities, and equipment. These position have now been integrated and organized geographically under a new agency-wide structure to achieve greater work efficiency. Here the intent was to use the same number of employees to increase productivity through ensuring the maximum use of existing resources. These changes have been completely implemented resulting in a reduction of supervisory and management position from 36 to 14. The positions that formerly had these responsibilities were then able to focus their time on preparation of plans for the development and use of Game Lands and other issues that were of pressing concern for the WRC.

Report to the Legislature

Review of the Organizational structure and functions of WRC has been continuous since the original effort in 2011. The principal focus has been on flattening the organization, and ensuring that resources are put to the highest, best use through review and analysis of the need for each vacant position prior to filling it. In the current biennium, the WRC has continued to adjust the work force to reflect better alignment with the agency vision. While we have not eliminated positions with this endeavor we have certainly reassigned positions to areas of more vital importance where we can best deliver on our strategic plan.

Some of the recent actions we have taken are to eliminate the Accounting Manager position and reallocate it as an Internal Auditor, identified as a critical need. The Internal Auditor position is assigned to the Executive Director's Office. We then reorganized the Administrative Division, retitling it Wildlife Business Services. The Deputy Director for Administration has been designated as the Business Services Director, has assumed the direct responsibility for the Controller's Office, and added 6 direct reports. This eliminated a level of management for that work group. Also in the Director's Office, we have established a work unit titled Wildlife Legal. This unit is under the supervision of the Agency Legal Counsel. We have transferred a Biologist position to this unit to function as the Rules Biologist, to provide technical assistance in establishing rules through the rules review process. We have also assigned an administrative support position to this unit. These actions are in response to the WRC involvement in an increased level of litigation.

In the Chief Deputy Directors organizational unit we now have the Customer Service unit reporting to the Chief Deputy, as well as the Habitat Conservation program. The rationale for having Customer Service report to the Chief Deputy is that it better reflects their purpose of selling commission "products" (licenses, permits, registrations) rather than a purely administrative support role. This transfer allows closer coordination and cohesion among the resource divisions and this unit, which brings in about a third of the WRC revenue each year. The Habitat Conservation program has been for many years fragmented into two divisions. This required enormous effort in implementing a shared decision making model and also a situation where objectives were not clear and there were competing interests at work. This move elevates this unit and ensures that the overarching goals of the program are articulated from a holistic perspective.

In the divisions of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife Management we identified duplication in terms of administrative support. In an effort to streamline that support and in addition provide better, more timely delivery of services we consolidated the support units of both divisions under one supervisor. This required employees to cross train and become knowledgeable of the programs of both divisions in order to assist callers better with their questions and/or requests for materials.
